

In April the recovery in the €coin indicator came to a halt

For immediate release: 08.30 BST; 09.30 CET; Friday, 27 April 2012

- In April the €coin indicator worsened slightly, declining to -0.08% from -0.03% in March, and interrupting the improvement that had been under way since the beginning of the year.
- This result reflects the downturn in share prices and the deterioration in consumer and business confidence, offset in part, however, by the growth in exports.
- The €coin indicator developed by the Bank of Italy provides a summary index of the current economic situation in the euro area. The indicator is an estimate of quarterly GDP growth shorn of the most erratic components (seasonal variations, measurement errors and short-run volatility). €coin is published monthly by the Bank of Italy and CEPR.
- Next €coin release dates: Friday 25 May and Thursday 28 June (provisional).

€coin and euro-area GDP – April 2012

Sources: Bank of Italy and Eurostat.

€coin collates data from a large set of macroeconomic time series (industrial production indices, business surveys, demand indicators, stock market indices and more). It extracts the information that is relevant to tracking underlying GDP trends for the entire area.

The €coin estimate is timely, leading Eurostat's official release of the area-wide GDP growth figure by several months. And it provides a reasonably close anticipation of the quarterly growth rate net of the more volatile components. The estimate of underlying growth trends by €coin has two key advantages:

- (i) monthly frequency, with release several months ahead of the official euro-area GDP estimate;
- (ii) immunity to the short-term fluctuations and measurement errors that mark quarterly output growth; that is, the index figure is an indicator of the euro area's actual growth momentum.

The following table shows the performance of the €coin indicator over the last year:

Month	€COIN
April 2011	0.60
May 2011	0.62
June 2011	0.52
