

Conference Announcement and Call for Papers
Reform of the International Economic Order: Uncertainty and Economic Policy
Coordination
Nov 20th, 2021

Hosted by Institute of International Economic Cooperation, College of Business, Shanghai
University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

The conference will bring together researchers working on the implications of uncertainty and economic policy coordination, preferably relating to the Chinese economy. The program committee cordially invites submissions of both theoretical and empirical work on topics including (but not limited to):

- Regional trade agreements and new rules of international economy.
- Global value chains, intra-product specialization and regional production networks.
- Trade protectionism and global economic governance.
- U.S.-China relations and prospects.
- Normalization of the Covid-19 epidemic and new global economic and financial pattern.
- Financial liberalization and macroeconomic policy coordination.
- Digital currency and reform of the international monetary system.
- Fintech, cryptocurrency and financial structural transformation.
- Global climate changes and global governance system.

We invite authors to submit completed papers or extended abstracts. Completed papers are preferred. Please submit the full paper with an abstract in pdf format to q7clover@gmail.com, using the authors' full names as the filenames of the papers, and entering "Paper Submission for Uncertainty and Economic Policy Coordination" as the email subject. Please also indicate in your submission whether you would be interested in being a discussant. The organizers will select the papers based on originality, analytical rigor, and policy relevance.

The deadline for paper submission is Oct 15, 2021. Conference paper notifications will be made no later than Oct. 31, 2021. The safety risks posed by the COVID-19 pandemic have made it impossible to hold an in-person event for most overseas presenters as expected. Therefore, the virtual meeting will be held for overseas scholars and we expect an in-person meeting for domestic scholars in China.

Special Issue:

Journal of International Money and Finance will select papers presented at the conference, and publish a special issue. The general topic of the special issue is "Reform of the International Economic Order: Uncertainty and Economic Policy Coordination". All submitted papers will be considered.
